For more than 100 years, Central Café has been at the heart of Middleboro. As the town's oldest café, our story is woven into the history of the community, a gathering place where neighbors become friends and traditions are passed down through generations.

From the moment you step inside, you'll feel the charm of a bygone era-the classic mahogany bar, the familiar laughter, and the comforting aroma of homemade food filling the air. Our famous pizzas have been a post-game favorite for decades, enjoyed by families who have made the Central a part of their weekly routine for generations.

At Central Café, we've always believed that good food doesn't need to be fancy; just honest, hearty, and made with care. Our affordable prices and home-cooked meals have set us apart for over a century, and we take pride in serving dishes that bring people together.

With the best draft beer selection in town and a warm, welcoming atmosphere, Central Café is more than just a place to eat; it's a piece of Middleboro's history.

On behalf of the Bourget and Fuller families, we are honored to carry on the Central's proud legacy and continue serving the community that has supported us for over a hundred years.
